Chief Executive Officer

Clean Cold Power

Tom Keller serves as Chief Executive Officer of Clean Cold Power, maker of a disruptive transport refrigeration technology that delivers a cost-effective zero-emission transport refrigeration unit (TRU) that is cleaner, quieter, and more efficient than diesel and other alternative technologies.

Keller, a serial entrepreneur, and investor has built multiple logistics companies around the world. Before leading Clean Cold Power, he co-founded and was Managing Director of Archive Management Solutions, a company he transitioned to Iron Mountain, where he became Managing Director of Eastern Europe and Scandinavia Iron Mountain. Prior to that, Keller founded several companies, including Wilshire Holdings Sp. Z.o.o, a business providing telecom and agro chemical warehousing for companies; Logistic Distribution Systems (LDS); and Brand International Restaurant Distribution (BIRD).

Keller sits on the board of Wilshire Holdings and advises other companies on market strategy.

Keller holds an undergraduate degree from Vassar College and an MBA from Columbia University.
