

Rimas Kapeskas
President
Clean Cold Power

Transportation industry veteran Rimas Kapeskas is President of Clean Cold Power, maker of cost-effective zero-emission transport refrigeration units (TRU) that are cleaner, quieter, and more efficient than diesel and other alternative technologies.

Prior to Clean Cold Power, Rimas spent 25-plus years on corporate staff at United Parcel Service. As Strategy Vice President and Managing Director of the UPS Strategic Enterprise Fund, he oversaw corporate venture capital investments in early/mid-stage start-up technology companies strategically relevant to the global transportation and logistics firm. Also, he directed R&D efforts for launching new business units, diversified service offerings, and new support technologies. Prior sales, marketing and operating roles included integrating acquired companies and new technologies in 20-plus countries during his career. Currently, he is an operating partner with Cambridge Capital and serves on boards of multiple private companies and non-profits.
